Valuation methodology

In Comparable Transactions Valuation, the price range of the analysed company is estimated by factoring the valuation multiples paid in the acquisition of similar companies (similar size and industry) recently. This type of valuation requires the completion of the following steps.

Please note that this valuation is only an approximate estimate and we disclaim liability for any inaccuracy or deviation of the information used and for any mistake made during the valuation process. For a reliable professional business valuation based on international standards, please feel free to contact us.

I. Analysis of corporate performance
